I/GM's Contribution to [REDACTED] Evaluation

Only a small proportion of the reports which are received from this program have been of real value. Most deal with suspected locations of guided missile activity and are based on rumor or third and fourth hand information. Although we have had no way of checking out these reports most seemed unreasonable or inaccurate in the light of other factors. However, since information on guided missile activity in the Far East is quite fragmentary and the reporting from the [REDACTED] 25X1A2g Program is not being duplicated by information obtained from other sources, it is believed that even the small amount of accurate information received makes the program worth while.
